

Barrington Stoke Primary Spelling Dictionary Christine Maxwell and Julia Rowlandson

Key Note:

A special edition of the international bestselling dictionary with fewer headwords and a simpler, accessible layout for the Primary user.

Sales Points:

Impressive track record of original Dictionary – 300,000 copies sold worldwide – 2005 new edition has reprinted already and selling strongly

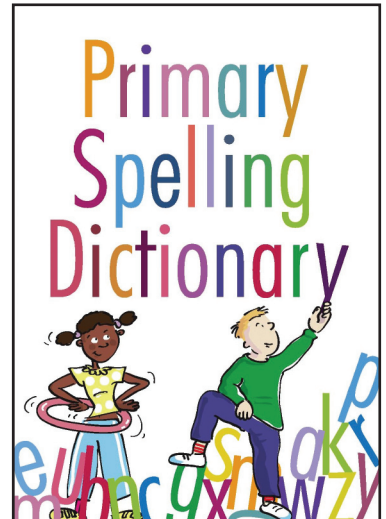

Spelling – massive interest in spelling following the BBC's National Spelling Competition culminating in the TV Programme Hard Spell

2005 Dictionary received lots of coverage and excellent reviews

Key Features:

- Designed for struggling spellers at Key Stage 1/2
- Uses phonic attack to find both regular and irregular spellings. Look up a word as it sounds – if you are correct you will find it in black, if you are wrong you will find it in red with correct spelling in black beside it
- Thoroughly researched by experts, misspellings collected from children
- Contains high frequency words, adjectives and action words to aid writing
- Accessible layout with derivatives spelt out
- Alphabet at the top of every page to make words easier to find
- Short descriptors given for words that may be confused
- Hints to help you find your word
- Handy spelling tips given at the start

Author Biography:

Former teacher Christine Maxwell wrote The Dictionary of Perfect Spelling in 1977 and it became an international bestseller. In 2005 she wrote the hugely successful revised edition for Barrington Stoke. She lives in France.

Julia Rowlandson trained as a Primary school teacher and now works as an Educational Consultant. She was the Editor of the revised edition of the Dictionary. She was formerly Deputy Head of More House School and has vast experience in teaching those with specific learning difficulties. She lectures widely and lives in Surrey.

Other Information

Publishing Date: September 7th 2006

ISBN: 1-842994-01-8

Price: £11.99 p/b

Format: 145 x 208mm

Pages: 250pp approx

Bic Code: YG

CBMC Code: C4N79

Market Rights: World

Shop Category: Reference/Education

